Multiplayer CTF Summary

A Summary of CTF

The program was booted and the map was loading

I spawned in the red base and a bullet flew by.

Half the blues were rushing, occasionally reloading.

After I picked them off, one by one, I sighed.

Running across the map, I shot down the stragglers

I stopped behind a hill as a vehicle drove past.

I gave them rockets like giving to beggars.

Those noobs were not of my class.

While no one was looking, I grabbed the flag

Now half the blue team was heading back

I ran and ran and because of lag

They returned their possession to where it sat.

Hours and hours had flown by so quick

Half a day wasted and I didn't even notice

But the memories of the game will always stick,
Like a plasma grenade on a novice.

End
file.
